Willie:

I have become aware that despite repeated requests to stop, you are once again sending multiple emails to partners around the firm. In many of the emails you repeat allegations which, as we have told you repeatedly, are not true. In some cases you have started texting partners these comments as well. This conduct must stop immediately. At a minimum, it amounts to harassment of some of our partners, and the statements in some cases are defamatory. If you persist, the firm will be forced to take action to protect its partners from this behavior.

I have instructed recipients of these emails not to respond to them. If you have matters you wish to communicate to the firm you may do so by sending emails to me. I will see that others receive the information as appropriate.

Jeff
